BREAK

When you return, please sit with your PLC team.

Think about a time you were part of a team that was unstoppable

What were the characteristics of that team?

What made that team special?

What obstacles did you overcome?

What are Professional Learning Communities?

PLCs are teams of licensed educators who have a common purpose and who work collaboratively with a focus on student learning through collective inquiry and action research. PLCs meet regularly, share expertise, and work collaboratively to improve teaching skills and the academic performance of students.
